MISAPPLIED ENERGY.

My Uncle Jim, he has a voice
Whose strength you must admire;
He was the congregation's choice
For leadin' of the choir.
We swelled the choruses with vim,
As hopeful as could be.
It wasn't no use, fur Uncle Jim
Kep' singin' off the key.

He kin sing higher than the girls
An' lower than the men;
An' when his music he unfurls
We all give in, right then.
The organist looks sad an' grim,
We're great they all agree,
At makin' noise. But Uncle Jim
Keeps singin' off the key.

An' when to office he aspired,
His eloquence was fine.
His vocal cords was never tired.
He'd rather talk than dine,
But votes, they turned out fearful slim.
He jes' got two or three
As usual, my Uncle Jim
Was singin' off the key.

MASON'S DOCTORS.

Acknowledge the Tribute Paid Them In Our Special Edition.

The following explains itself:

Mr. John Duley, President Board of Trade, Maysville—Dear Sir: By request, on behalf of the physicians of Mason county, I beg to tender their acknowledgments of the handsome and fitting tribute conveyed in the carnival number of THE LEDGER, this city. Handsome, because of the elegant diction; fitting, because of the facts; and valued, because of the recognition, and its source.

Some facile and gifted pen has done the home profession and its efficiency full justice; no more, no less. With that, our mission would seem ended. For, "pity 'tis, 'tis pity 'tis true," as a class we have no commercial rating to speak of; as business men we line up, only too often, on the wrong side of the ledger.

Per contra, we can only plead that the quiet of the sickroom, the hush of death's chamber, reveal assets of no value in the market, 'tis true, but available when stocks are at a discount, "under the willows, on the other side."

Mason county has put good men to the front in time past; there's ample material of regulation standard, from which to fill the depleting ranks.

Individually and collectively we thank you, and through you the honorable Board of Trade, for kind mention in a time of general gratulations. This of itself implies merit, and, which is much, appreciation! Very respectfully,

A. G. BROWNSON.

Sec'y Mason Co. Medical Society.

HITS THEM HARD.

Rev. Taubman After the Card Sharps of His New Church.

The Rev. George P. Taubman, who went recently from Maysville to Portsmouth, has, according to The Blade of that city, original opinions on some matters.

He says he doesn't see why members who are known drinkers and gamblers should be church members, while members who tattle at home and play cards for prizes in their own parlors are continued in good standing.

He says he has meetings for men only because he thinks men need preaching to worse than women.

August Flower.

"It is a surprising fact," says Prof. Houton, "that in my travels in all parts of the world for the last ten years, I have met more people having used (true) August Flower than any other remedy, for dyspepsia, deranged liver and stomach, and for constipation. I find for tourists and salesmen, or for persons filling office positions, where headaches and general bad feelings from irregular habits exist, that Green's August Flower is a grand remedy. It does not injure the system by frequent use, and is excellent for sour stomachs and indigestion." Sample bottle free at J. C. Pecor's Drugstore. Sold by all dealers in all civilized countries.

WEATHER PROBABILITIES.

It Can, On Many Occasions, Be Depended Upon With Certainty.

Philadelphia Record.

The weather lore of country folks is a fascinating field of observation, and much as its accuracy may be called in question by more pretentious students of meteorology, it can, on many occasions, be depended upon with certainty. Curious phenomena in the air and peculiarities of animal life have long been known to indicate a change in the weather. The celebrated Dr. Jenner, an earnest believer in rural weather lore, embodied its leading points in the following lines, which cover nearly all that is known today upon that branch of the subject:

"The hollow winds begin to blow,
The clouds look black, the glass is low;
The soot falls down; the spaniels sleep,
And spiders from their cobwebs peep,
Last night the sun went pale to bed.
The moon in halo hides her head;
The anxious shepherd heaves a sigh,
For, see, a rainbow spans the sky.
The walls are damp, the ditches swell;
Closed is the pink-eyed pimpernel.
Hark! how the chairs and tables crack,
Old Betsy's joints are on the rack;
Loud quack the ducks, the peafowls cry,
The distant hills are looking nigh.
How restless are the snorting swine!
The busy flies disturb the kine.
Low o'er the grass the swallow wings,
The cricket, too, how shrill he sings.
Puss, on the hearth, with velvet paws,
Sits, wiping o'er her whiskered jaws.
Through the clear stream the fishes rise
And nimbly catch the uncouth flies.
The glow-worms, numerous and bright,
Illumined the dewy dell last night.
At dusk the squalid toad was seen
Hopping and crawling o'er the green.
The whirling dust the wind obeys
And in a rapid eddy plays.
The frog has changed his yellow vest—
He now in russet coat is dressed.
Look out! the air is cold and still;
The blackbird's mellow voice is shrill.
The dog, so altered in his taste,
Quits mutton bones, on grass to feast,
And see you crows, how odd their flight;
They imitate the gliding kite
And seem precipitate to fall,
As if they felt the passing ball—
'Twill surely rain."

Nervous children are almost always thin children. The "out-door-boy" is seldom nervous. White's Cream Vermifuge is the best preventive of nervousness. It strengthens the system and assists to that sort of flesh, which creates strength and power of endurance. Price, 25 cents. J. Jas. Wood & Son.
